

Coast-to-Coast for the Unborn

Despite the weather forecast on Jan. 22, pro-lifers came out in droves — in church groups, campus contingents and the like, from near and far — witnessing to the value of all life at the March for Life in Washington. EWTN's Teresa Tomeo, who anchored EWTN's live coverage of the national march, estimated the crowd at about one-third the size of the usual crowd, due to impending Winter Storm Jonas. Elsewhere, large rallies (noted in blue below) were held in Chicago, Denver, Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, St. Paul, Minn., and everywhere in between before and after Jan. 22.
